

We are all _____

The May '68 Paris uprising began with student occupations of the universities and spread to the factories until the whole country came to a standstill. Through a refusal to speak and negotiate terms, new relationships emerged between students, workers and intellectuals. The streets, awash with slogans, posters and pamphlets became the space of 'a movement of words.' Art students at Ecole des Beaux-Arts took over printing machines and produced posters that captured the popular imagination of the movement.

On the 50th anniversary of May '68, MA Curatorial Practice at Bath Spa University is creating a project of words for the Media Wall in Newton Park. We would like to once again combine the voices of workers, artists and students, starting with edited slogans from 1968. We are exploring how they may be made relevant to today - from the list below, choose as many as you wish and fill in the blanks to create new slogans about today's issues. Selected ones will be animated on the Media Wall from 1-20 May 2018, alongside a programme of films and talks.

This is a collaborative project with MA Curatorial students led by guest artist Alan Dunn and Course Leader Ben Parry.

We are all _____

We participate, they _____

We want to _____

We will _____ nothing

We declare a _____

Your children are _____

Let us change _____

Let the people _____

Freedom is the _____

Designing reality is _____

New ideas are _____

The enemy is _____

The wall has _____

Students are _____

Struggle against the _____

To hell with _____

Live without _____

Let's not change _____

Concrete breeds _____

Power to the _____

What if we _____?

Only the _____ exists

Commute, work, commute, _____ permanent _____ cultural vibration

When examined, answer _____

Down with _____ society

_____, do not consume

_____ in the streets

_____ I love you

Our hope can _____

The future will _____

Coming soon: _____

How would you like to be credited (eg name, job title, pseudonym)?

For staff, please return a paper copy to the box by reception desk or email the document to: b.parry@bathspa.ac.uk. For other MA students and contributors, please email to: alandunn44@gmail.com

Deadline for your submission: Friday 9th March 5pm

This project forms part of Dunn's FOUR WORDS series of digital screenings across the UK. For more information see www.alandunn67.co.uk/fourwordstechnology.html